CONFIDENTIAL

Comment. The occupation of Camp Gross-Kuchnau on the northwestern perimeter of Dessau has been changing since late September. This indicates that either separate engineer exercises combined with tank and infantry troops of battalion or regimental strength were held, as were also observed in other training areas on the Elbe River such as Darby-Rossau-Dormitzsch, or that the troops were involved in a large-scale command-post exercise which extended from southwest of the Elbe River as far as the Halle-Halberstadt area. The vehicle [REDACTED] in the present report and numerous reports by other sources indicate that elements of the headquarters units and divisions of the First, Third and Fourth Gds Decz Armies and the Ninth Gds Army and components of the two engineer regiments of the GOCG participated in the exercises.

Comment. According to the spiral code, the [redacted] belong to the Southern Group of Forces, and the [redacted] to the 6th (?) Gds AAA Div of the GCPG. [redacted]
